Dear Chris:

Thank you for making our 2005 Division Annual Meeting a success. I think many of us learned we are more creative than we thought. Most of us also saw that we sometimes need to move out of the comfort zone to experience life.

Over the weekend I was challenged on how far I could bend. During our banquet Saturday night, I had to use the ladies room. When pulling up my nylons, my bracelet got hooked behind my back. I wasn't sure if it was caught on my nylons, underpants, or dress. I didn't want to pull on it for fear I would snag something. I managed to reach around my back with my left arm and unhook the bracelet. It was at that moment that I truly understood the importance of being able to bend physically. How embarrassing I would have been if I had been discovered in the ladies room with my dress up to my waist.

My incoming address on Sunday focused on reflection. First, reflection of the weekend and the powerful messages we had learned from our speakers. Then reflection for the future, how each of us can cast a reflection of professionalism with our fellow admins to help grow our association.

Thanks for an awesome program that helped me kick off the 2005-06 Division theme, Reflection of IAAP.

Sincerely,
